

Watch House East

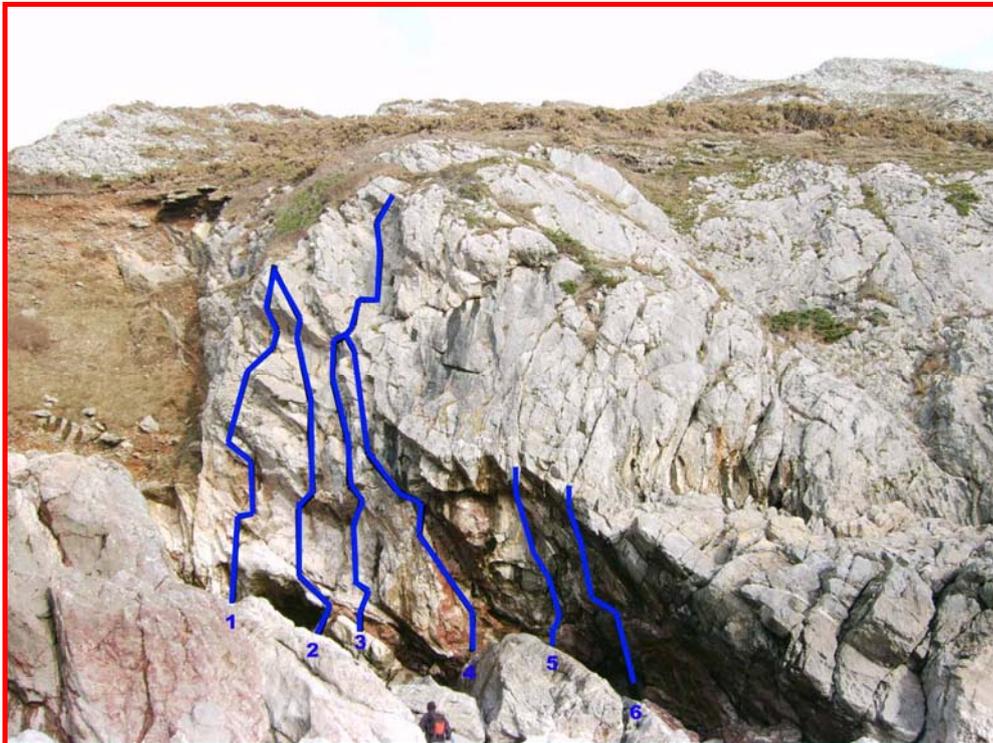

Introduction

A recently re-bolted crag, 4 mins from foxhole. The first ascensionists have, at their own expense, replaced rotten fixed gear with stainless steel bolts and lower offs. For a sunny, steep and pumpy day out this is the place, then cool off in the sea. If you are still going strong try nearby Foxhole for the full sporting day. More may be revealed in this area soon!

Location

Follow the road through the village of Southgate to the National Trust Car Park. Looking toward the sea turn right along the track (i.e. towards Three Cliffs Bay) until you are stood in front of No.9 West Cliff. At this point turn left and follow a faint path through gorse bushes and down to the sea. Emerge onto the raised conglomerate beach and the crag is on your left (looking out to sea). Unless big seas are running only routes 5 & 6 are tidal.
